

PERFORMANCE TOOLKIT

The 8-Week Progress Challenge

A practical activation for your members and coaching team.

01 / Plan the challenge

Eight weeks. Three checkpoints. Give each participant a useful baseline, a review and a clear next step.

When	Member experience	Team action
Week 0	Baseline measurement and personal goal	Explain the results and book both reviews.
Week 4	Repeat measurement and coaching review	Discuss training, feedback and the next action.
Week 8	Repeat measurement and next-block consultation	Review the block and agree what comes next.

Choose the purpose

Select one audience: a strength group, a conditioning cohort, a transformation programme or another clearly defined member group. Use body composition alongside relevant performance measures and member feedback.

Cohort / programme

Registration dates / capacity

Programme lead / coach team

Use the copy templates on page 3, the consultation sheet on page 4 and the aggregate tracker on page 5. Adapt the schedule to your capacity and follow the device instructions for eligibility, preparation and measurement.

02 / Prepare the team

Complete this checklist before inviting members. Assign a person to each task.

Task	Suggested owner	Complete
Define the cohort, member benefit and next-step offer	Programme lead	[]
Set assessment capacity and appointment slots for all three checkpoints	Club manager	[]
Confirm device instructions, staff training and support route	Measurement lead	[]
Agree the consultation structure and escalation route	Coaching lead	[]
Prepare the launch message and booking process	Marketing / reception	[]
Set up aggregate reporting and a private member-record process	Programme lead	[]
Book coach cover for weeks 0, 4 and 8	Club manager	[]
Agree a short weekly operational check-in	Programme lead	[]

Capacity check

Allow time for welcome, preparation, measurement, explanation and the next booking. The listed 24-second TRU Alpha measurement is only one part of the appointment. Plan against your observed full appointment time.

Appointments per week / time per appointment

Named owner for booking problems or missed reviews

Keep participation welcoming. Discuss individual results privately and recognise engagement, consistency and personal progress.

Launch announcement

See what changed, not just what you weigh.

Join our 8-Week Progress Challenge at [club]. Start with a body composition measurement and a conversation about your goals, then review your progress with our team at weeks 4 and 8.

Your results will help shape what you work on next, alongside your training and how you feel.

Starts [date]. Includes [what is included]. Price: [price / included in membership]. Book at [booking link] by [deadline].

Week 4 reminder

Hi [first name], your Progress Challenge review is due on [date]. We will look at your measurement, discuss how training has been going and agree your next action. Please follow the preparation guidance shared by the team. Book or change your appointment at [link].

Week 8 invitation

Your final challenge review is coming up. Let us look back at the block and plan what comes next. Book your week 8 measurement and coach conversation at [link]. Bring any questions about your programme, progress or next goal.

Send through the club's usual permitted communication process. Do not include body composition results in public posts or group messages.

04 / Coach consultation sheet

Use this structure privately with the member. Record only what is relevant through your club's approved member-record process.

Member reference / coach / checkpoint date

1. Understand

What would you like to be able to do? What has gone well since the last checkpoint? What has made training difficult?

Member's goal / feedback

2. Review

Discuss the relevant measurements in plain language, following device guidance. Bring in training performance, attendance and how the member feels. Explain uncertainty and keep interpretation within the coach's competence.

Relevant observations / questions

3. Agree

Choose one or two achievable actions. Explain any relevant programme or coaching option without making the measurement an automatic sales recommendation.

Agreed action / support needed

4. Book

Next review date / owner

Your weight is one part of the picture. Let us look at what changed across the block, alongside your training, and agree what to focus on next.

05 / Track participation and follow-through

Use the accompanying CSV for aggregate cohort counts. Keep individual health information out of this campaign tracker.

Measure	Definition
First assessment completion	Week 0 assessments completed / registrations
Week 4 return rate	Week 4 assessments completed / week 0 completers
Week 8 return rate	Week 8 assessments completed / week 0 completers
Coach review completion	Completed coach reviews / assessments completed at that checkpoint
Next-programme conversion	Members joining an agreed next programme / members completing the final coach review
Feedback response	Feedback responses / members invited to give feedback

Worksheet columns

Club, cohort, checkpoint, reporting date, registrations, week 0 completers, assessments completed, coach reviews completed, next-programme sign-ups, feedback responses, feedback invited, owner and action notes.

Keep comparisons consistent

Define whether counts are unique members or appointments and use the same definition throughout. Keep cohort dates and denominators fixed. A return-rate percentage with only a handful of participants should be interpreted cautiously.

Reporting owner / weekly review day

Action for members missing a booked review

06 / Finish with a useful next step

The final review should help the member understand the block and choose what to do next.

Follow-up message

Thanks for taking part in the Progress Challenge, [first name]. At your review we agreed [next action] and [support / programme]. Your next checkpoint is [date]. If anything gets in the way, contact [coach / contact route] so we can help you adjust the plan.

Team debrief

Question	Decision / action
Did the cohort understand the invitation?
Could staff deliver all three checkpoints?
Where did bookings or reviews fall away?
Which conversations led to useful next actions?
What should change before the next cohort?

Separate engagement and programme sales from claims about product impact. A challenge without a suitable comparison does not establish that measurement caused retention or revenue to improve.
